Good morning, Year 5!

Now that you have completed your story, it's time to publish it.

Today's task:

Publish your completed story.

You may decide to write it neatly into a notebook or on paper then add your own illustrations. Maybe you would prefer to use a computer and add images.

You could even design a cover page and back page with blurb.

Great work- you have followed the writing process to complete a finished, published story. Could you share it with someone in your family so that they can enjoy reading it?
